即将毕业的青年导演阿川，以自己与爷爷的真实关系为基础拍摄一部关于“代沟”的短片。然而随着拍摄展开，爷爷不断偏离预设的角色，忘词、笑场、修改台词，现实逐渐打破剧本中的设定，也让阿川开始重新认识眼前的爷爷。

影片采用元电影叙事，将拍摄过程本身纳入故事，使导演与孙子、演员与爷爷、表演与真实生活不断交错。原本关于“代沟”的拍摄，最终成为一次重新理解彼此的过程——阿川也从“讲述爷爷”，逐渐走向“真正认识爷爷”。

在浙江杭州富阳的偏远村落，一对夫妻因渴望男孩，孕期迷信服用了大量偏方。山子出生后，雄性激素过旺，需服用避孕药以抑制生理上的性别表现。父亲执着于对儿子身份的幻想，拒绝面对现实，坚守传统的男孩偏好；母亲则在父亲的坚持面前选择沉默，成为无声的顺从者。两人内心的懦弱和逃避逐渐导致山子产生了性别认知障碍，他无法清晰地辨认自己的性别身份，深陷父母无言的压迫中。一场乡村婚礼成为故事的转折点，揭开了父亲压抑多年的内心秘密。影片通过描绘传统文化压力下的个体挣扎，探索性别认同、家庭关系与封建文化观念之间复杂的联系。通过这个故事，我希望唤起观众对性别平等和社会进步的深刻思考，促使反思长期以来的偏见如何无形中塑造我们的思想和行为，阻碍社会进步与个体自由。

独立艺术作品

装置由一系列亚克力管、形态各异的玻璃瓶和一个屏幕文字打印机构成。亚克力管上悬挂着各式各样的玻璃瓶，玻璃瓶内的化学试剂通过PVC管道相连，能够产生化学反应，象征我不断突破自我设限的心路历程。观众通过佩戴脑电波感应设备，直接影响瓶中化学反应的速率，创造出个性化的化学景观，体验那份源自不确定性的美丽与惊喜。在互动过程中，还能通过按下按钮触发屏幕文字打印机，随机输出并打印一段富有哲思的话语。这些文字赞美探索未知、挑战常规的勇气，同时引发对当下生活的深刻反思。该装置邀请我们重新审视生活中的固有边界，勇于重新定义自我，拥抱更加丰富多彩的人生。

ARTIST RESEARCH

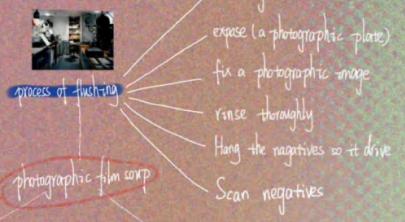
Erosion' series of works | Hu Weiyi, the artist who extracts stomach juice to make film
In the 'Erosion' series of works, the film is covered in colours like stomach acid, the images are corroded and uncontrolled or 'out of control'. This way of handling film has inspired me a lot, and I also try to peep into the depths of my own mystery in the process of developing film, challenging norms and conventions.

If I Wrote a Poem | Nick van Woert
Its shape became one of my sources of inspiration.
In my installation, I hope to build a symbolic space through the combination of shelves and pipes - a metaphor that reflects my personal inner world. Through the progression of the space, I present the psychological journey of an individual in exploring unknown territories and his growth and transformation in the face of challenges.

RESEARCH PROCESS IN THE DESERT

I planned a trip for myself to the deserts of Northwest China, to a place I had never been before. I was given the opportunity to get in touch with nature in such a challenging environment, which forced me to face loneliness, fear and all kinds of challenges head on. At the same time,, I used film to record my free and unfettered state in the desert environment.

MIND MAP



DESERT VIDEO :

https://youtu.be/enAUv6wN-d4?si=YGgXjoZ9i8nP-hee

FILM SOUP CONCEPT

Film itself holds an inherent unpredictability. Before developing, I soak the film in any substances I choose—this is the essence of "film soup." My goal is to create a unique "soup," make unconventional choices, and embrace the uncertain results, rather than fixating on predetermined goals.
This experience is a bold attempt to break away from negative constraints and find joy in the playfulness of the "unknown."

MY FILM SOUP PRODUCTION

I do this in the following ways:
1.record my feelings of breaking out of my established bonds in the desert
2.Put it in a jar of boiling water and add whatever substance I want to it - lemon, fleur de sel, white wine, etc. and tumble it in the washing machine.
3. Leave it for 24 hours and shake it occasionally.
4. Rinse thoroughly
5. Air dry it for 2 weeks
6. Rinse it myself in the film lab

FILM PROCESSING

After an engaging and unique brewing process, the results of the film soup are wonderfully unpredictable.

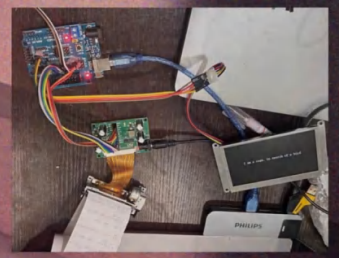
I allow myself to be immersed in the novel experience of never knowing what I will get. The process of shooting, simmering and revealing is no longer just about the end result, but has become part of the whole experience.

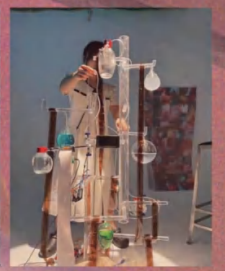
FINISHED FILM SOUP

This is the result of my first attempt to break free from the shackles of the analogue world in my life.

SKETCH

EXPERIMENTAL PROCEDURE





DEVICE INTRODUCTION

Pipe Construction:
Pipes are crafted using acrylic and glass as raw materials. After 3D printing, the components are glued together.
Interactive Screen Text Printing:
An Arduino board controls the interactive screen and automatic printer, with the main control program written in C language.
Brainwave Data Collection and Processing:
Audience members wear wireless digital sensors that collect brainwave data in real time.
Brainwave-Controlled Pump:
Electromagnetic modules monitor brainwaves and convert them into electrical signals. These signals are sent to a control board, which processes the data to activate the power supply and drive the pump. The flow rate of the liquid is adjusted based on the strength of the electrical signals.

THE VEIL OF SAMENESS

装置/摄影/展览现场
独立艺术作品

作品由一个巨幅弹性织物框架和一组多通道影像交互装置构成。织物上印制的图案由无数面部化妆痕迹交叠混合而成，呈现出社会审美标准下个人自我形象塑造的趋同化趋势。参与者通过触摸直接与这幅图像产生联系——当手掌与织物接触时，图案产生微妙的形变。其所带来的阻力让参与者直观感受到个体在一种既定标准中被同化与规训时直面的社会结构凝视。巨幅印刷展示强化了这一凝视的象征意义，迫使观者直面所谓“标准”对个体表达的侵蚀。借助 TouchDesigner 和 Leap Motion 技术，我将上述的互动关系扩展到数字领域。通过一系列多样的手势控制，参与者加入到修改妆容的创作中。通过更为具像化的视觉交互，我希望在这一过程中让参与者感受到个体审美在社会框架下的局限与阻力，探索突破这些限制的可能性，对审美标准提出质疑，并思考社会期待与个人审美之间的平衡。

INSPIRATION

The daily act of wearing makeup feels like adding an artificial layer of skin, one that has gradually merged with my body and deepened my dependence on my post-makeup appearance. This made me realise that makeup not only alters our outward appearance but also subtly shapes how we see ourselves. The process of applying makeup often feels like a social contract, requiring conformity to widely accepted beauty standards. In this process, personal aesthetic preferences and self-awareness are subsumed into a pre-existing societal framework, leading to perceptual limitations and a weakening of individual will. I hope to challenge these standardised judgements imposed by society and find a space where personal agency and individual aesthetics can thrive.

THEORETICAL RESEARCH

The concept of the "Body without Organs," introduced by Gilles Deleuze and F ē lix Guattari, inspires this work. It encourages imagining a state of being unbound by societal structures and functions, challenging traditional ideas of the body and envisioning an existence full of fluidity and transformation.
Building on this concept, I aim to treat makeup as a method of redefining and expressing the self. I want to break free from traditional aesthetic constraints and explore new ways to perceive and express individuality.

ARTIST RESEARCH

In Wonjun Jeong's work, the "other" is seen as the "face" of the individual, helping them move beyond their isolated inner self and form deeper connections with the outside world. The floating fabrics twist gently in the wind, creating irregular shapes that symbolise fluidity and change.
Inspired by this, I aim to use distorted, incomplete portraits to convey complexity and uniqueness, resisting societal frameworks of aesthetic conformity.

In Jackson Shaner's Escape Pods, the eerie forms of pottery challenge conventional ideas of form and identity. The souls attempting to escape, screaming faces, and outstretched hands represent resistance to traditional boundaries and highlight the power of transformation and plasticity.
This inspired me to explore self-expression by opposing uniform aesthetic standards and seeking a more authentic understanding of the self.

EXPERIMENT

These images are based on the makeup habits of my female friends at university. By printing traces of their makeup onto makeup remover pads, I found that these otherwise unique individuals shared surprisingly similar or overlapping makeup patterns.
Makeup, which is meant to express personal identity, has gradually become a standardised template promoted by the media. This template encourages people to use similar products and techniques, turning a once individualised practice into a uniform process, stripping it of its diversity and uniqueness.

EXPERIMENT

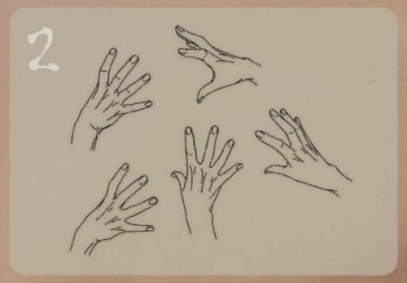
The image is a statistical artwork created from countless traces of makeup I collected, combining them into a collective visual form. By integrating these traces from different women' s daily makeup routines, the image represents a collective aesthetic. It reveals a standardised beauty template widely accepted by society and highlights the strong influence of social standards on individual choices. Traces that appear unique when viewed separately lose their individuality when overlapped, becoming a unified symbolic language. This suggests how individuals compromise and conform to societal definitions of beauty.

In designing the interactive element of the images, I aimed to create an immediate and intuitive experience through gestures. Focusing on "destruction" and "reconstruction," I crafted an aesthetic experience with a rebellious spirit. Actions like swiping or fist movements disrupt the fixed structure of the images, making them flow freely under the participant' s control. This interaction between gestures and images allows participants to experience the flexibility and subjectivity of "beauty." The images transform, constantly reshaping under individual actions, symbolising the disruption and reconstruction of societal beauty standards through self-expression.

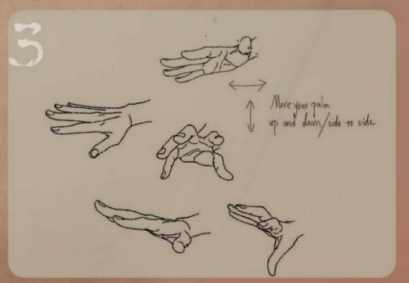
PROCESS

GESTURE DESIGN

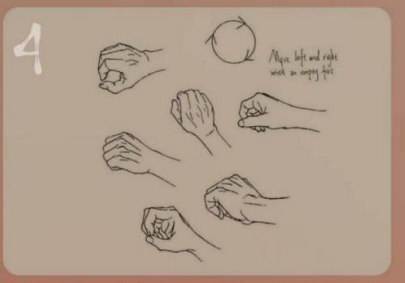
1.In the absence of gesture, the image remains static. The still image symbolises a standardised and widely accepted template of beauty in which individuals gradually develop fixed expectations of their appearance.



When the hand appears, the image fluctuates, suggesting the intervention of the individual's will.



When the hand moves, the image is also deformed as if it were touched, and the concave and convex effect symbolises the excessive intervention and modification of the individual's appearance by social standards.



The clenched fist moves from side to side and the image appears blurred, symbolising the struggle and resistance of the individual in the face of societal aesthetic expectations

5.The continued fluctuation of images expresses the far-reaching and persistent nature of this impact. Individuals, in their constant attempts to conform to these external standards, tend to gradually lose themselves and their sense of uniqueness.

Cultural Captivity

综合媒介装置

作品由五个被冻结的未来金鱼模型、一本书籍、一组海报及一段交互媒体影像构成，共同指向核心概念——“文化圈养”。作品以金鱼为隐喻，探讨人类审美与文化如何介入、塑造甚至控制生命形态，以及持续干预可能产生的极端结果。作为一种长期受到人工选择与审美塑造的生命，金鱼的形态本身成为文化介入自然的结果。作品由此将这种“塑造”延伸至社会个体，思考审美、规则与集体期待如何潜移默化地影响身体与身份，并重新定义自由的边界。

作品通过自然与文化、个体与社会、自由与控制之间的张力，引导观众重新思考：文化如何塑造生命，又如何塑造我们自身。

INSPIRATION :

In my childhood memories, goldfish at the flower and bird market always deeply attracted me. Unlike other fish, goldfish are colourful and diverse but are not traditionally eaten. This contrast sparked my curiosity. As I learned more, I discovered that goldfish do not naturally occur but result from hundreds of years of careful human breeding and crossbreeding. Humans have created over three hundred goldfish varieties with different shapes and colours to meet their needs and aesthetics. This made me realise that shaping pets based on preferences involves transforming and defining life. It reminded me of how society implicitly controls and shapes women – just as goldfish are given specific aesthetic standards, women are often unconsciously constrained by societal expectations and role definitions. In this project, I explore the phenomenon of "cultural domestication," reflecting on how these cultural constructs limit freedom and individual diversity.

ARTIST RESEARCH :

At 0°C, ice symbolises the delicate balance between preservation and decay. Bruce Boyd creates tension between beauty and fragility by encasing organic materials in ice. Goldfish, like flowers, are cultivated for aesthetic needs, serving as a metaphor for the unnatural shaping of life. In my work, I freeze goldfish models in ice to symbolise societal constraints, showing how control over form stifles natural evolution and autonomy.

CONCEPT :

As a product of human aesthetic preference, the selective breeding history of goldfish mirrors society's implicit "domestication" of female roles. By observing the Trump and Lolita Island incidents, I realised that the fate of goldfish and women's experiences being redefined under societal expectations are strikingly similar. Against the backdrop of women's consciousness awakening, I propose a hypothesis: if humans continue to transform goldfish based on their aesthetics and needs, what unnatural forms might they take in the future?

VISUAL EXPERIMENT :

SKETCH AND MODEL :

Through these ironically shaped goldfish, I question humanity's instrumental and aesthetic treatment of natural life forms.

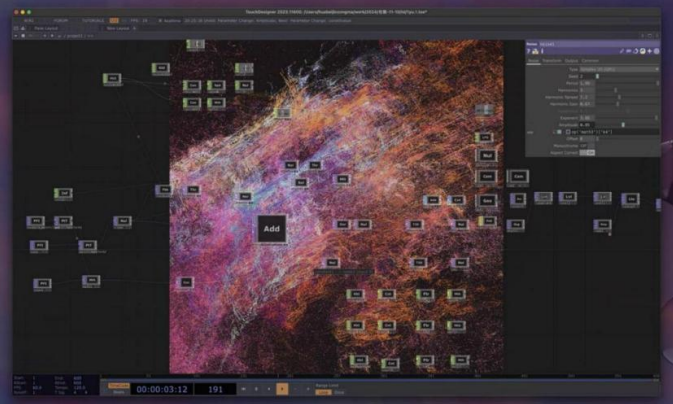
DIGITAL VIDEO :



This media video uses the visual effects created by TouchDesigner to present the future evolution of the goldfish, and combines the biological scene of egg cell combination to symbolize the origin, transformation and continuation of life. At the same time, the video places women in common social scenes, explores and reflects on the expectations of traditional society for women's roles, and challenges and reflects on the cultural framework of society's shaping and restraining of individuals, especially women's roles.
Finally, the exhibition was filmed, including books, frozen models and posters, showing the thinking and ideas behind the creation, strengthening the overall atmosphere of the exhibition and the audience's immersive experience.

I symbolically express the constraints of "cultural domestication" on life forms through the physical process of freezing. Ice fixes the form of goldfish at a moment in time, symbolising the suppression of their freedom and vitality and that of individuals. It also reflects the increasing control of culture and society over life forms. In this way, I hope to provoke the audience to deeply reflect on "cultural domestication": when cultural and power forces regulate individuals, do they also freeze their freedom and diversity, preventing them from evolving autonomously or escaping established social frameworks?

BOOK DESIGN :

The book combines sulphuric paper and acrylic materials to create visual and tactile layers, revealing how society shapes and "freezes" individual forms. The fragility and transparency of sulphuric paper symbolise the implicit control and constraints of culture on individuals. At the same time, the hardness and coldness of acrylic highlight the irreversibility of this control, conveying the suppression of individual freedom and mobility.

Permitted Danger

装置/摄影/展览现场

从游乐园中“被控制的失控”出发，作品探索危险与安全、自由与控制、失衡与稳定之间的关系。作品通过摄影记录游乐设施、人体运动与支撑结构，并将影像 UV 打印于高密度聚氨酯泡沫之上，通过弯曲、堆叠与支撑形成看似不稳定却始终受控的空间状态，引导观众重新感知危险与稳定之间不断变化的边界。
